FACULTY OF ARTS

Department of English

Moved (R. Kurial/B. MacLaine): that the following changes be made to the course levels and prerequisites on page 130 of the 2008-2009 Calendar:

Changes to Course Levels and Prerequisites on page 130 of the 2008-2009 Calendar -

- Courses at the 100 level are introductory courses that provide a basic framework for critical reading and writing at university. English 101 is a prerequisite for English courses above the 100 level. English 192 and 195 are general introductions to literature, taught from a variety of perspectives. Detailed descriptions of each year's courses will be available in the Department's Calendar Supplement.
- Courses at the 200 level are either general interest courses or foundational courses that develop the skills necessary for further study in English. The prerequisite for 200-level courses is English 101 or permission of the instructor. English 201 and 202 are required courses for a major, minor, or honours English degree. They are also prerequisites for many 300-level English courses.
- Courses at the 300 level provide detailed study of areas of language and literature. The prerequisites for these courses are (a) English 101, and (b) is at least one 200-level English course, or permission of the instructor. Some courses require specific 200-level courses.
- Courses at the 400 level are designed to give students the opportunity for advanced study of a chosen topic within a specific area of English language or literature. The classes are usually seminars that require active participation and independent study. Students must have completed at least one 300-level course before enrolling in a 400-level course.

All students are reminded that English 101 and one other English course are university prerequisites for graduation.

NOTE: English 203 (Practical Grammar) and English 381 (Professional Writing) may not be used to fulfill the second English requirement.

(offered first semester)

This course is an introduction to applied statistics as used by behavioural scientists in measurement, data, analysis, and design of experiments. This course stresses both an understanding of the rationale governing the selection of appropriate designs or techniques as well as practical experience in calculation. Topics include: scaling, measures of central tendency and variability, probability, statistical inference and hypothesis testing, means test (z and t), correlational techniques, chi-square and other non-parametric techniques, and analysis of variance.

PREREQUISITE: Psychology 101-102 and enrolment in the School of Nursing, or permission of instructor. Three hours a week

NOTE: Credit will not be allowed for Psychology 271 if a student has received credit for any of the following courses: Mathematics 221, Mathematics 231, Education 481, Psychology 278, Psychology 279, and Sociology 332.

There was discussion around why this course was being reinstated. G. MacDonald expressed a "philosophical objection" to the practice of one Faculty offering a service course specifically for majors from another faculty where the course material was from a discipline from a third faculty. He felt that it is in the best interests of students to have the professionals in a given discipline (in this case Statistics) provide the instruction in that discipline. K. Critchley noted that there were discussions held between the Faculty of Nursing and the Department of Psychology. D. Dahn wished that Mathematics was consulted. K. Critchley said that Dan Ryan did an environmental scan about statistics courses at one point but there has been no followup to it.

2 opposed, 4 absentions Carried.

K. Schultz explained that under the Policy on Research Institutes, Centres and Groups, all UPEI-based research centres wishing to use the designation "Institute", "Centre", or "Group" must go through a process of review and authorization as outlined in that policy.

Since the inception of the policy, Senate has approved four Research Centres; namely, Centre for Christianity and Culture; Centre for Education Research, Tourism Research Centre; and Centre for Veterinary Epidemiological Research; and five Research Groups - Animal Movement and Resource Selection Research Group; Children's Health and Applied Research Team; CMTC Research Group; Neuroscience Research Group; Comprehensive School Health Research.

There will be revisions to the existing policy with regards to broadening the categories of centres brought to the next Senate meeting. The Chair asked if Dr. Schultz could look at the roster of what has not been approved yet and take to the next meeting.

7. Program Growth and Development

(a) Centre for Life-Long Learning

J. MacAulay gave an overview of the Centre for Life-Long Learning. UPEI has a long history in offering continuing education to Islanders. Continuing education and extension functions have changed dramatically over the years.

There is renewed interest on the part of adults who do not have a degree to return to university, and for many who have a degree, to continue with further education. As well, employers are recognizing the need to provide more professional development to keep pace with the changing workplace.

The Centre provides training and development in many areas such as, Management and Professional Development, Conflict Resolution Studies, Small Business Training through Profit Learn, Summer English Second Language, Support to Summer Institutes, Personal Enrichment, Seniors College, On-line training modules, and Contract Training Services in any of the above areas of programming. The number of individuals served through these programs has increased dramatically over the years.

The Centre also offers the following services to adult learners looking for UPEI credit programming: Marketing and promotion of programs and services; Research and coordination with Faculties on the development of new programming (BIS); Prior Learning Assessment and Recognition Services (PLAR); Individual academic advising.

J. MacAulay outlined initiatives being pursued in areas with the Government, other Schools/Faculties on campus and small business community. The area of leadership development will be a priority with signing of a five-year contract with the Government. New programming will be developed in response to workplace needs.

There are many critical components under discussion for the adult learner. Incremental steps in the direction for adult learners will allow UPEI to respond and in effect support its community responsibility while maintaining its focus on teaching.

A Senator asked if there would be classes dedicated for adult students only. These wouldn't be for credit courses, many of the courses offered by Life Long Learning are non-credit.

D. Sims asked the question why is Life-Long Learning a centre and not a department? The naming conventions used will be addressed in the review being undertaken by Dr. Schultz.

(ii) Holland College Partnerships

UPEI currently has 14 articulation agreements with Holland College -

- Accounting Technology, Business Administration, Retail Business Management to the BBA up to 30 semester hours credit
- Marketing and Advertising Management, Golf Club Management, Sport and Leisure Management, Hotel and Restaurant Management, and Tourism and Travel Management to the BBTH degree 2 + 2
- Atlantic Police Academy to BA or BSc 45 semester hours credit
- Computer Information Systems to the BSc Computer Science 39 semester credit hours + one CO-OP work term (agreement under review)
- Sport and Leisure Management to BA 2 + 2
- Early Childhood Care and Education to the BCFS 2 + 2
- Practical Nursing to the BSc Nursing 27 semester hours credit
- Journalism to the Bach of Applied Arts in Print Journalism 2 + 2

The Bachelor of Wildlife Management degree is currently with MPHEC. The BBS degree is awaiting the full commission review of MPHEC and the meeting is scheduled for February, 2009. Discussions are underway concerning a possible Kinesiology partnership.

Holland College offered an Articulation Night and invited UPEI to attend. Students manned the panel to share their stories. The panel addressed the value of articulation agreements, the ease with which students can transfer and an invitation to interested parties to talk to Holland College and UPEI about the relationships.

There are ongoing meetings with Holland College regarding curriculum issues.

The mean age of students at Holland College is 23 and the student body is made up of 56% males and 44% female. Surveys conducted by Holland College indicate that 40% of students enrolled in Business Studies indicate an interest in going to University and 29% of the overall population at the College indicated a willingness to pursue a University education.

For the 2008-2009 academic year, 205 UPEI students expressed interest in attending Holland College and 202 applied for admission. 150 of these applicants received an offer of admission and 86 registered at Holland College.

These numbers clearly indicate that there is a great interest by students in moving between institutions.

M. Shaver asked if we had statistics on Holland College students that come to UPEI. We don't have any actual numbers but we have a number of programs that students work on concurrently at UPEI and Holland College. A couple of examples are the Bachelor of Education in Human Resource Development and the Certificate in Adult Education.

Holland College has many other articulated agreements with other institutions. It is in our best interest to pursue as many options as we can.

The vision for those who created UPEI was that the two institutions would work together. We have come a long way over the years in building an open relationship.

(iii) Graduate Studies

In 1998, graduate studies was approved to be offered at UPEI. In 1999, Master of Science and Master of Education programs were launched. In 2003, Master of Island Studies began and in 2004, Master in Applied Health Research was introduced. The newest graduate degree offered at UPEI is the Master of Business Administration, first class entered the Fall of 2008. Since 1999, UPEI has awarded 44 Doctoral and 330 Master degrees.

The University is targeting further growth in Graduate Studies with a goal of 400 students per year within the next 5-10 years. There are a number of programs in the development stages. The Faculty of Education doctoral program is presently at MPHEC as well as the new Faculty of Science doctoral degree.

The membership for the Search Committee for the Assistant Vice President Graduate Studies has been finalized - Two members of the Board - Tom Cullen and Dr. Andy Tasker
Two members of the Senate - Dr. Michael Shaver and Dr. Wendy Carroll
One graduate student - Raphael Vanderstichel
One member of ASG appointed by the President - Kathy Kielly
President's Designate - Dr. Katherine Schultz

D. Dahn asked if the new Assistant VP would sit on Senior Management. The Chair responded that he did not know at this point.

Adjournment

Meeting adjourned at 4:35 p.m.

Respectfully Submitted,

Kathleen Kielly Registrar and Secretary to Senate
